

CPCC is about dreams.

Central Piedmont Community College student Tawana Chandler chose the James Turner Institute of Welding Technology at CPCC's Harper Campus. The welding program readies students for careers that are hands-on, fun and outside-the-cubicle! Students like Tawana Chandler receive industry standard skills to help make career dreams come true.

CPCC offers hundreds of degree, diploma, and certification programs; customized corporate training; market-focused continuing education; and special interest classes to meet the education needs of this community.
