

CPCC Marketplace
Submission Form & Guidelines

Please read the following terms:

Only offers from incorporated businesses will be accepted for review. CPCC reserves the right to cancel or void an offer at any time. Submissions must clearly identify the names of a contact at both CPCC and the business entity. Only non-monetary offers are accepted for review.

What is an acceptable advertisement/offer?

An advertisement is acceptable when it offers a unique and substantial benefit to students or employees. These two conditions may be described as follows:

- Unique means the advertiser/vendor must require a student or employee ID or require the presentation of a coupon acquired at CPCC or through resources, such as Spark or a CPCC web page, controlled by CPCC.
- Substantial means the benefit is not trivial in relation to total value of the product or service being offered.

What is NOT an acceptable advertisement/offer?

The review committee has the right and responsibility to protect the interests of the College and reserves the right to cancel or void an offer at any time.

- Advertisers whose offers do not meet the unique and substantial test
- Offers that contradict College and/or state procurement guideline and practice will be excluded from consideration.
