When an applicant completes a FAFSA form online, edits are performed just prior to submission. When triggered, these edits require online confirmation or correction of the information that caused the edit to display. Because information transferred from the IRS does not display to the applicant (nor can corrections be made), any web edits that include information transferred from the IRS will no longer be presented to the applicant. Instead, financial aid administrators are alerted that at least one edit was triggered but could not be displayed to the applicant and therefore, could not be resolved online.

Corrections will need to be completed by the financial aid representative.
